

RECORDS MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVE EXPERIENCE

Listed below are representative Records and Information Management efforts Redgrave Attorneys and Analysts have undertaken:

- Developing a global RIM policy as well as records retention schedules that account for specific legal and operational requirements in 15+ countries for a Fortune Global 500 financial holding company
- Developing a global RIM policy as well as records retention schedules that account for specific legal and operational requirements in 25+ countries for a Fortune Global 500 pharmaceutical and biotechnology company
- Developing a global RIM policy as well as a records retention schedule for a multinational pharmaceutical and chemical company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding RIM and legacy data retention issues for a Fortune Global 100 pharmaceutical and biotechnology company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding RIM and legacy data retention issues for a Fortune Global 100 technology company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding RIM and legacy data retention issues for a Fortune Global 250 consumer products and services company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding RIM issues for a Fortune 100 insurance company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding records retention schedules and other RIM issues for a global engineering company
- Developing a global RIM policy for a Fortune Global 1000 media company
- Providing advice and counsel regarding records retention schedules and other RIM issues for a global aerospace company
- Developing a RIM policy as well as records retention schedules for a financial services provider
- Developing a RIM policy as well as records retention schedules for a global real estate company
- Performing a RIM policy and program assessment for a Global 250 medical device company
- Performing a RIM policy and program assessment for a Global 250 consumer retail company